When did candidate motion become distinguishable?